

Ring out, the wedding bells, ring out
For there is joy to-day:

A wedding twenty five years old
You celebrate to-day.

Friends pause awhile to wish you joy
And for your blessings pray.

May all the summer's fragrance
And all the winter's cheer

And all the joys of life be lived
In this one day so dear!

Bring memories sweet, while time is <sup>kind,</sup>
With precious loved ones here.

Yes, ring the wedding bells to-day,
And let them joyous ring,

And drive all sadness far away:
For life is on the wing.

Aft times the summer's flowering
Is sweeter than the Spring.
