Mellie J. Thomas There we do.

I Jesus were present, what would He
And what would He say to us all, ^{to His}
Would He bid us go hence, we as no children
That we did not respond to His call.

Would He pass us on by when we ^{to ourselves} proffer
To help in His work day by day,
Or scornfully say as we offer our goods,
To be out of His sight, and away.

Would He still use the lash, as in days ^{long ago}
When people the Temple defiled ^{four pens}
If He came to our church, and set in
To list to the sermon so mild?

Oh no! Not our God, the Savior of all,
Who loved, and died, and has risen ^{brought}
Who blessed little children the multitudes
Said, Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven.

He will not bid us "go hence", for did He not ^{say}
Come to me all ye weary and rest, ^{say}
Take upon you my yoke, I'll teach you the
To do every thing that is best.
